DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-20, drawn to correction of image includes an image area in which at least two different color dyes are mixed with each other, classified in class 382, subclass 162.
 - II. Claims 21-27,37,and 38, drawn to direction of a print head array and of a scanner array, classified in class 347, subclass 246.
 - III. Claims 28-36, and 39, drawn to selection processing applied to plurality of readout information sets, classified in class 382, subclass 325.
 - IV. Claims 40-52, drawn to a correction operation based on light-amount correction coefficients/information where exposure-amount information is acquired based on a corrected image, classified in class 399, subclass 38.
2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:
Group I, II, III, and IV. The species are independent or distinct because they are drawn to separate aspects of the invention. As noted in applicant's specification (refer to lines 4-12 of page 99), multiple embodiments are presented which are drawn towards image correction, scanning, processing, and writing. Further with respect to group I, an image forming apparatus and corresponding method are recited which in relation to the other groups of the invention relates specifically/distinctly: an image forming section to form said image by employing said print head in which said recording characteristics of said plurality of recording elements are compensated for, according to said correction amounts found by said correction amount finding section; and a controlling section to control said print head so as to records said correction image onto said photosensitive material; wherein said correction image includes such an image area in which at least two different color dyes are mixed with each other. With respect to group II, an image forming apparatus and corresponding method are recited which in relation to the other groups of the invention relates specifically/distinctly: a direction of a print head array where the direction of a first array line coincides with that of a second array line, and where also a correction amount finding section applies a rotation processing to said readout information so as to specify said readout information corresponding to each of said plurality of recording elements. With respect to group III, an image forming apparatus and corresponding method are recited which in relation to the other groups of the invention relates specifically/distinctly: applying a selection processing to a plurality of readout information sets, so that a correction amount of said recording characteristics are found, based on selected readout information sets. Further with respect to group IV, an image forming apparatus and corresponding method are recited which in relation to the other groups of the invention relates specifically/distinctly: image formation by operating a plurality of recording elements included in a print head, based on a plurality of light-amount correction coefficients revised by a correction-processing section; and where an exposure-amount information are acquired, based on readout information acquired from the correction image.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, the application contains no claim that is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

3. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 2853

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
